100 years for Kathryn Daniels

Kathryn Daniels is the second resident of Hyland Crest to have marked her one hundredth birthday this month.

Five generations of the Daniels family joined in a celebration at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home on Wednesday February 20 as Mrs. Kathryn Daniels marked her 100th birthday.

Congratulations and greetings were sent to Mrs. Daniels by Queen Elizabeth, Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, Ontario Premier Frank Miller, Victoria-Haliburton MP Bill Scott, Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, and many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Daniels was born Kathryn Moffatt on February 20, 1885 in Cobocok. She lived most of her early life near Kirkfield then after her marriage to James Daniel, she moved to Fenelon Falls.

The couple had two children, Jack and Irene. In 1940 James Daniel passed away.

In 1950 Mrs. Daniels moved to Minden where she resided with her daughter Irene Miles until March of 1984 when she moved to Hyland Crest.

Members of her family include two children, two grand-children, seven great grand-children and six great, great grand-children.

County roads contract ratified

Haliburton County Council has ratified a two year collective agreement with the County road employees.

The agreement calls for wage increases averaging 6.6% in 1985 and 6.2% in 1986.

All road employees will receive a 50¢ an hour increase retroactive to January 1, 1985 and a further 20¢ an hour increase effective July 1. In the second year of the contract the employees, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), will receive a 40¢ an hour increase on January 1, 1986 and a further 20¢ an hour increase on July 1, 1986.

Employees will also receive an increase in the clothing allowance from $50 to $75 a year in the second year of the contract.

The agreement affects workers in 14 categories. The county currently employs 15 workers in the Roads Department during winter months and as many as 30 workers during the summer.

Council ratified the contract at a special meeting on Wednesday, February 20 following contract talks between representatives of CUPE local 1960 and the county personnel committee.

In commenting on the collective agreement, the chairman of the personnel committee, Bill Howe, said the two year contract would give the union members more security than a single year contract at a time when there is "a lot of uncertainty in the economy".

He added that because the contract will be in effect for two years, there will be no need to hold contract talks at the beginning of the new council's term following the municipal elections in November. "There may be new faces around the (County Council) table after the elections," he said, adding "the agreement will make it easier for the next council if there are new members elected." Copies of the agreement were forwarded to all members of Council for review following the negotiations.

The meeting was held to avoid a delay in the ratification on the request of the personnel committee because the next regular meeting of Council will not be held until March 20.

Council unanimously endorsed the agreement.

Youth found guilty in pellet gun incident

A 17 year old Toronto youth has been found guilty in Minden Provincial Court of pointing a firearm.

Hilton Maizels was given a conditional discharge with a one year probation by Judge R.B. Batton Wednesday, February 20.

Maizels was charged with careless use of a firearm and pointing a firearm by Ontario Provincial Police following an incident at Camp Northland near Eagle Lake on August 10, 1984.

Ten year old Ari Goldkind of Toronto was blinded in one eye after being struck by a pellet from an air pistol fired by Maizels.

The OPP took extra security precautions at the trial because of anonymous threats which had been made on the lives of the Maizel family and a number of witnesses. Police searched everyone who entered the courtroom for weapons with a metal detector and extra policemen were placed on duty.

Witnesses to the incident testified that several counsellors, including Maizels, had fired pellets from the pistol and an air rifle several days before the wounding incident. The owner of the pistol, Robert Morais, testified that shortly before Goldkind was injured, he had been asked by Maizels to see the pistol Morais said that he had fired the pistol once into the air then once against his hand to ensure that it was not loaded, then had given the pistol to Maizels.

Goldkind testified that Maizels then began firing the pistol at other counsellors and at objects in the cabin.

Goldkind said that he had called out to Maizels "Shoot me," because he believed that the gun was empty and that only air was coming out of the barrel. He said that Maizels then pointed the gun at his face and pulled the trigger and that he immediately felt a pain in his left eye and blood on his face.

Accompanied by Maizels, Goldkind was taken to the camp infirmary then to the Haliburton hospital. He was then transferred by ambulance to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and underwent an operation to remove the pellet from his eye.

When he was asked by the Crown Attorney if he had any sight in his left eye, Goldkind answered "No, I can't see with it."

Firearms expert

Fin Nielson, who was described by the defence lawyer Adrian Hill, as the top firearms expert in the province, examined the air pistol at the Centre of Forensic Science following the incident. He described the air pistol, a "Crossman 357" as a very close replica of a Smith and Wesson 357 magnum handgun.

Nielson said that although the gun manual states that 60 shots can be fired with each CO2 cartridge, experience has shown that 40 shots can be fired effectively but the remaining 20 shots have reduced fire power. He said that when he tested the gun, the muzzle velocity of the projected pellet was 115 feet per second and that when a new cartridge was inserted, the muzzle velocity increased to 311 feet per second.

Nielson testified that it was theoretically possible that if the pressure from the capsule had dropped, a pellet could have become lodged in the barrel then subsequently released when the gun was fired again. To ensure that the gun is unloaded Nielson said that the cylinder should be removed and examined and that the barrel should also be inspected.

Nielson added that although it is not required by law, he believes that a Firearms Certificate should be required for the air pistol. "In my opinion it is a firearm" he said, adding that it can cause serious bodily harm or death. He went on to say that he is aware of two deaths that have been caused by pellet guns as well as a number of serious eye injuries.

Crown Attorney Alex Smith told the court that the pistol is a firearm as defined by the Criminal Code of Canada and that although

Snowdon resident charged for assisting wanted man

A Snowdon man has been charged with giving aid and comfort to an individual wanted by the police. The charge was laid after police arrested Dusty Upton at the home of Nathan Hie in Snowdon Township.

Shooting

there is no evidence of any intent to injure there is clear evidence that the defendant did point the firearm and that he was aware that the gun was capable of discharging a pellet and causing harm.

Defence lawyer Adrian Hill described his client as a caring, loving young man who had shown a great deal of remorse over the incident. Hill argued that like everyone else present at the time of the shooting, Maizels did not believe that the gun was dangerous. He added that ultimately society was responsible for "allowing these guns into the hands of children."

In passing sentence, Judge R.B. Batton rejected a term of incarceration as being inappropriate and said that a monetary penalty would belittle the results of the incident. He added "A Court decision is almost an afterthought," that, "tends to give satisfaction to society."

In sentencing Maizels to a conditional discharge with a one year probation, Batton stated that the defendant could apply for a complete discharge at a future date.

The judge reserved judgement on the charge of careless use of a firearm until May 8.

Upton was being sought by police after he failed to appear in court on a charge of break, enter and theft and a second count of theft.

Police have also arrested another individual who had failed to appear in court for trial. Shawn Wilson was arrested at his home February 17. He was to have faced two charges of break, enter and theft.

Driver injured

The operator of a snowmobile was injured February 16 when the vehicle collided with a tree. Terrence O'Sullivan of Scarborough was treated at Minden hospital for the injury then transferred to St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

Theft

The police are investigating the theft of ski equipment from a truck February 16. According to the authorities, the skis, poles and bindings were removed from the pick-up truck of Paul Hyoway of Haliburton when the vehicle was parked at a local grocery store lot. The missing equipment was valued at $150.

Snow tow

Police have once again issued a warning to drivers not to park on rural roads in a manner that interferes with the snow clearing operations. During the past two weeks, at least eight drivers have been charged with this offence. In addition to having to pay the fine, the owners were also responsible for the tow charge involved in removing the vehicles and the inconvenience of discovering that their means of transportation was not where they had left it.

Stanhope pumper truck deal falls through

The Township of Stanhope Fire Department will have to wait longer than anticipated for the delivery of a new mini pumper.

It was expected that a mini pumper manufactured by King Seagrave Limited would be delivered to the township in June or July, after council agreed to purchase the vehicle in November. However, at the February meeting of council, members were informed by clerk-treasurer Gerald Bain that the manufacturer has gone into receivership.

Bain assured council that the township has not spent any funds on the purchase of the $42,000 vehicle, adding that the company may be reorganized and continue manufacturing equipment.

The mini pumper is a four wheel drive one and a half ton truck on which a 200 gallon tank and water pump is mounted.

The truck is small enough to negotiate many of the private roads in the township that are too narrow for the pumper unit that is currently being used by the department.

Following the news of the company's financial problems, the council advised the fire chief Bob Nangle to contact other manufacturers for mechanical specification and purchase prices.

Lutterworth council briefs

Items from the February 21 meeting of Lutterworth Council.

Municipal fuel tenders for 1985 were awarded to John E. Francis Fuels.

Council considered the total amount of fuel used by the municipality in 1984 to arrive at a decision on the two tenders that were received.

The fuel tenders were as follows: John E. Francis Fuels, gasoline 47.75¢/litre, diesel fuel 45.0¢/litre, furnace oil 33.3¢/litre. Sid Stamp Fuels: gasoline 46.9¢/litre, diesel fuel 45.9¢/litre, furnace oil 35.6¢/litre.

Fire protection

Council approved a fire protection agreement with the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden that will remain in effect until December 31, 1985.

Lutterworth Township has had a fire protection agreement with the neighbouring municipality since 1978.

While the agreement remains substantially the same including the $3000 standby fee, revisions were made to the fee structure and to several special circumstance clauses.

Under the new agreement, Lutterworth will pay $185 for the first hour that the Minden Fire Department is on the scene of a fire, an increase of $35 an hour and $90 an hour for the second and subsequent hours, an increase of $15 an hour.

Under the revised agreement the Anson, Hindon and Minden Fire Department must gain authorization from the Ontario Provincial Police to attend a vehicle fire in Lutterworth Township and must also gain authorization from a member of Lutterworth Council to respond to a fire at a township dumpsite.

Information service provides grants update

A resident of Stanhope Township who wants information on government subsidies for municipal or private projects need look no further than the municipal offices.

The Stanhope Council recently entered into an agreement with STM Research and Publication Corporation that will provide the township with continually updated information on grants and subsidies that are available from the federal and provincial governments.

A press release issued by the corporation notes that "the percentage of eligible recipients actually applying for grants and subsidies is low due to lack of information, inaccurate information or information that is received when it is too late for a potential recipient to take advantage of a particular program."

Included in the list of subsidy programs are those which are designed to stimulate specific sectors such as housing, tourism, forestry and agriculture, as well as programs of a general nature such as those designed to subsidize new employee wages.

Clerk-treasurer Gerald Bain, informed council that he has received numerous enquiries from individuals seeking information on work programs and financial assistance for small businesses.

The annual cost of the service which is updated monthly is $225.00.

A stark reality emerged from a trial last week in Minden's Provincial Court. That reality is that our society permits potentially dangerous and lethal weapons to be handled by children.

The court was told of an injury caused by a compressed air powered pistol at a Highlands summer camp. The victim lost the sight of one eye and, according to one observer, was fortunate not to have lost his life.

While the Canadian court system provides for a clash of opinions in the search for the truth, the one fact that emerged from all participants in this case was that the unrestricted sale and use of air guns created an intolerable situation, especially in regard to children's safety.

A number of frightening facts came to light during the testimony presented in court:

- the pistol in question was a replica of a Smith & Wesson 357 magnum and could be used in a crime as a 'phony' gun.

- it is available for sale at stores across Canada at a cost of $60.

- a Firearms Acquisition Certificate (FAC) is not required by the purchaser or user of the pistol.

- a warning on the side of the box suggests that the pistol was not suited for children under eight years of age.

- the muzzle velocity of the pistol was enough to cause serious injury and that two deaths have been reported as a result of the misuse of air powered weapons.

The information which emerged during the day-long trial could only lead to one conclusion...that air pistols and rifles of the kind involved in this incident should not be freely available to anyone. Indeed, since these types of firearms have a "lower power" than guns which require a FAC, leading some people to believe that they might be suitable for children, perhaps the only safe route to follow is to ban their sale altogether.

Only by restricting or banning the sale of these weapons can we ensure that tragedies, such as that recounted last Wednesday in Minden, will not be repeated.

Editor's Note: The following open letter was submitted to The Times for publication as a Letter to the Editor:

Dear Mr. Curtin:

Some of the residents of the Hamlet of Ingoldsby and the surrounding area are getting a little tired of you constantly complaining, with your fallacies and half truths, about the Ingoldsby bridge.

Let us get a few things straight. The old bridge is esthetically unattractive. Painting could improve the appearance somewhat but repair would be extensive to bring it up to standard.

The Ministry of Culture & Tourism were here to look at the bridge as a heritage structure. They emphatically refused that consideration, as you well know, since they came at your request.

As to the beach area. Yes, there will be a change there, but there will be good access with adequate swimming area. I have checked these points very carefully with Mr. Obee on several occasions to determine this to be true.

There is one large pine that will have to be removed, in close proximity to the present structure, as well as other scrub brush of no consequence. In no way will the approaches or the structure infringe on any front yard. All property used is owned by Haliburton County.

The span will not narrow the channel. The navigable channel is already narrow. The direction the span takes will centre the channel.

As to the safety factors. The direction the span takes will improve the approaches. The blind approaches we now have, have been the cause of several accidents. We have a school bus using the bridge twice daily during the school year. Large passenger buses servicing the tourist industry have to be re-routed because the present structure is unsafe for this size of vehicle. For the same reason, cement trucks and mixers have to be re-routed sometimes miles out of their way. Does this conserve energy?

Mr. Fearrey is being practical. The new structure will have a sidewalk making pedestrian traffic safer, particularly for children.

Taxpayers money has already been expended with two sets of plans in consideration of the people's concerns; with escalated costs over the time lapse of 2 years; with the purchase of road and marine allowances. Let us not waste those expenditures by putting off the inevitable. The new bridge will be good for at least 50 years, the present structure for a maximum of ten years. Costs will have greatly escalated in that ten years.

Finally, Mr. Curtin, I cannot agree that one new bridge can possibly be a deterrent to the tourist industry. I am sure they are all as concerned with safety as our residents.

Can we now lay the matter to rest. Our County Roads Committee and County Council have made their decision after examining the matter thoroughly and with full consideration for all factions including the taxpayers. Many people believe it to be a wise and sensible decision. Let us now stand behind our County Council in co-operating every way possible.

Patricia Burk, Ingoldsby.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Nature is - finally - beginning its march toward spring.

The same events that produce those beautifully warm, late-winter days are triggering both physical and behavioural changes in a host of mammals and birds. For some, it's mating season. For others, it's birthing time, or nesting season. For others still, it's time to begin northward migration.

Lengthening daylength - biologists call it photoperiod - is a much more important cue than temperature in triggering these changes. The significance of daylength is no accident, because it's not subject to the same vagaries as weather. It would be dangerous, indeed, for many animals to react to a premature, warm midwinter spell, only to be jolted or killed by a later-winter storm. Daylength, by contrast, is as regular as clockwork in heralding spring's arrival.

Bird and mammal species - each with their own definition of "spring" - respond differently to various daylengths. Our wild cats are all active now. Bobcat are pairing off and mating. Lynx are now seeking out mates, often shrieking and caterwauling in the north woods. Many cougar give birth at this time, taking advantage of late-winter's easy prey.

Coyote and red fox are both at the peaks of their breeding seasons. Surprisingly common throughout cleared and marginal areas of southern Ontario, they often wander some distance from their dens, in search of mates. The distinctive, 'yappy' howls of courting coyotes are often heard about dusk.

Timber wolves, animals of extensive northern forests, are just starting their, very vocal, courting.

Raccoons and skunks are now emerging from their dens to breed. Beaver, red and grey squirrels, mink and a host of mouse-like mammals are all mating.

Black bear are now giving birth in hibernation. Their now-tiny, helpless young will develop fantastically by maytime emergence from the dens.

There's little that happens by accident in nature, and the events now occurring are no exception. The mammals that are mating now have a 60 - 100 day gestation period. By breeding now, the young will be arriving early in the warm season, when they'll have abundant food and a long growth period before next winter's onset. If mating didn't occur until spring, the development period for young, would be chopped by 2/3.

It is interesting that a number of mammals with 5

I can't help but feel that I have broken, what some politicians are wont to call, a sacred trust. I have yielded to temptation and, yes, I have allowed a principle to slide.

My consternation is a result of an action I took last week in a rash moment of weakness. I answered one of those subscription sweepstakes offers we all received in the mail from time to time, in the affirmative.

That's right, I confess, I marked the box that said, "Yes, send me....." I actually peeled the "early bird bonus seal" from its place on the very official looking certificate, the one that yelled in very bold print, which showed through the plastic window on the envelope, that I was the recipient of $25,000.00 cash, and placed it on the jack's world

by editor & publisher Jack Brezina official entry form below. Yes, I placed the official entry form, with the early bird extra bonus seal affixed, in the 'yes' envelope, and then spent 32¢ to send it back from whence it came.

As the blandishments accompanying the promotion suggest, I guess my job now is to sit and wait, because, "The Brezina home may soon be the scene of an exciting event" (is there something my wife hasn't told me) "that will be the subject of conversation in Minden for years to come."

Not only that, but Minden will soon have door to door mail delivery service. How do I know? The promotion told me so ... "Your Minden postman will be coming around to your home with a check that reads PAY JACK BREZINA THE SUM OF $25,000.00!" (I wonder if our local banks accept checks, or cheques, on which exclamation marks are used. If they do, one could suppose that rather than having the cash counted out in neat piles, it is flung at you over the counter with great gusto).

Finally, because I have agreed to take part in this grand scheme, which involves a set of home improvement books, my home could become, "the envy of Minden". I suspect these people are not all that familiar with my home.

I usually do not succumb to this type of pitch in which computers are used to do an almost credible job of personalizing a letter. Not only does my name appear in the address, it is repeated throughout the body of the letter, the contents of which include a number of cleverly worded come-ons that, at first glance, seem to indicate that big bucks or fabulous prizes have been won simply by opening the mail box.

A closer perusal, of course, reveals the truth behind these statements. By reading carefully I quickly came to the realization that I haven't won a thing, that my chances of winning anything is usually related to whether I will subscribe, purchase or agree to examine for a 15 day free trial, with of course, no cost or obligation.

I object to these type of inducements, although I must admit I do read them, if only to see how adroitly the English language can be manipulated without actually committing the sender to something he cannot deliver. I object because this type of appeal relies on innuendo, inference and subterfuge to induce individuals to purchase a product. I have to question the value and quality of the product being offered when the company has to use this type of flashy, phony promotional glitz, promotion that puts prizes ahead of the product, to convince, or perhaps fool, individuals into making a purchase.

I have a place for promotional material like this ... most of us do.

I guess that's why I feel somewhat guilty about having responded to the promotional effort of this particular company. While I felt, after reading the details of the product being offered, that I might be interested, I was reluctant to commit myself and appear to be swept up in the promotional effort, the tactics of which I find to be particularly offensive.

The question then arises, will I turn the Minden postman from my door when he arrives bearing a check that says PAY JACK BREZINA THE SUM OF $25,000.00!? Not on your life ... but I'm not holding my breath either.

Editor:

We, seven snowmobilers, have just completed our second annual week of vacation at Beechview Cottages in Carnarvon.

After last year's discouraging and horrendous trail conditions, we unanimously felt that a note of appreciation and congratulations was in order. After last year's experience we decided to try Haliburton one more time thinking we could always take the lakes north to better trails if necessary. It wasn't! On Thursday past, we travelled from Carnarvon to Minden then to the Nesbit trail and on to Pine Springs and back to Beechview Cottages via the Stanhope trail with scarcely a "bump" encountered along the way!

Although we joined the O.T.B.A. through Markdale we did manage to leave behind in Haliburton County a considerable amount of cash for such items as lodging, groceries, beverages, gas, oil, parts, restaurants, 50/50 tickets, bait etc. etc. which, we trust, enables these merchants to participate to some extent in the HCSA trail program.

Once again, fellow snowmobilers, we extend our appreciation and thanks for your efforts this season.

See you in 1986.

Co-operative education

-by John Eakins, MPP -

The best way to learn about work is by working. However, great numbers of youth leave high school to enter the labour force with little or no work experience. Co-operative education offers a combined curriculum of in-school instruction and on-site "real" work experience where students receive academic credits for their work experience. The in-school portion of co-op is related to skills a student needs on the job, and while a student is on a work placement, there are frequent monitoring visits by a teacher. When a student finishes a co-op program, the employer may provide certification of performance and skill level, as well as providing letters of reference.

There are many advantages of a co-operative education program, which include:

- An opportunity to discover the real demands of the world of work.

- Opportunities for "on-the-job" skills training.

- Experience in relating the need for "academic" subjects in school and their application in the world of work.

- An opportunity for career exploration, where a student can compare "reality" with often vague or glamorized images.

- Opportunities to combine learning of life skills and employment skills, as in the opportunity to learn to take pride in successful job performance.

- Access to more sophisticated equipment and experience than is usually available in school.

- Reduced numbers of drop-outs, especially among general and basic level students.

- The improved perception of students, schools and teachers by employers who participate in co-op programs.

- Opportunities for teachers to get out into the community, meeting employers and increasing their knowledge of the "world of work".

A 1983 study conducted at Queen's University, and sponsored by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF), found an unprecedented level of success in post-secondary school placements for the co-op students studied. The study found that 50 per cent of co-op students found employment, 36.5 per cent went on to community college, 7.3 percent went on to apprenticeship, and 4.7 per cent went on to university. Only a scant 1.5 per cent were unsure of their destination.

Co-op education enrolments are rapidly increasing. In 1984 - 85 an estimated 15,000 high school students participated in a co-op program.

The new high school curriculum, Ontario Schools: Intermediate and Senior Divisions (OSIS), very clearly encourages boards to offer co-operative education, and states no board shall deny a student access to a co-operative education course that involves additional expense, because of a student's inability to pay. yet, the Ministry of Education provides no direct support, nor earmarks any funds for co-operative education. Current estimates indicate less than $17 million would permit every grade 12 student in Ontario access to a co-operative education program.

The Chamber of Commerce will attend the Sportsmen's Show opening in Toronto on March 15th and running to March 24th. The show will feature many items of interest for the whole family, including:

Fishing '85 seminars by Bob Izumi, Canada's 1st professional fisherman, Kids fishing seminars hosted by John Power, Outdoor Columnist for the Toronto Star and the Ministry of Natural Resources. The Ministry also features "The Outdoors Comes Indoors", a unique family oriented presentation.

The Show highlights include Leisure Homes by Viceroy (remember we do have a Viceroy representative in Haliburton County if you want to follow up on the homes you see at the show). Get hooked on the North, highlights the getaway holiday. If it's new for the Outdoors, it's at this show. Everything for camping, fishing, hiking, boating or just plain playing in the outdoors is all brought together under one big roof. There are more than 600 exhibitors, including the largest outdoor travel show in Canada, plus information from a host of outdoor and conservation organizations.

We will be located in our usual spot Aisle WF No. 14-16. We are easy to find, you can see our "Haliburton Highlands" sign from the end of the aisle.

This year the booth will be staffed by Chamber members as well as Chamber staff. If you are a member and haven't yet volunteered to join us at the show, please call and book your time now, 286-1760. We will also feature your brochures at $35.00 per member establishment. Pension act amendments

- by Bill Scott, MP -

Bill C-28, An Act to Amend the Pension Act, was passed unanimously by the House of Commons on February 14, 1985. It is a Bill I am proud to have supported on behalf of our deserving veterans.

The Pension Act governs the Canadian Pension Commission in its adjudication on claims for death or disability resulting from service in the Canadian Forces during World War I, World War II, Special Force service and military service in peacetime.

Bill C-28 makes five amendments to the Pension Act:

1) the basic rate of pension will be increased to reflect parity with the average take-home pay of selected categories of public servants;

2) the basic rate of pension will be increased each year hereinafter by the percentage increase in the above-mentioned take-home pay or by the percentage increase in the Consumer Price Index, whichever is the greater;

3) disability pensions at the married rate will be continued for a full year following the death of the pensioner;

4) survivors of pensioners who had been receiving an Attendance and/or an Exceptional Incapacity Allowance will see the Allowances continued for a full year following the death of the pensioner;

5) It will be enshrined in the legislation that whenever a split decision occurs in the adjudication of a veteran's pension claim, the decision favouring the veteran is the decision of the Commission.

This is a very important piece of legislation. It fulfills the Progressive Conservative Party's commitment to Canadians to come to the assistance of veterans and their survivors that we made last summer.

It will benefit at least 90,000 veterans and 50,000 survivors, most of whom are women. Had this Bill been in place last year, qualifying veterans would have had their pensions increased by over $600 more than occurred last year.

Along with these amendments the Pension Review Board will be increased in size, on a six month "as required" basis, to clear out a very long backlog in cases. Entitlement Boards will be reduced in size to two, in most cases, from the present three. We believe that this amendment to the pension process will be of potential benefit to all 700,000 veterans in Canada.

Peace group plans meeting

In response to public concern in our community about the effects of nuclear war, the Victoria County Peace Project has invited two physicians to a public meeting at Fenelon Falls Secondary School to be held Wednesday, March 6 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Paul Cragg and Dr. Mark Siegel, two family physicians from Peterborough and members of the international group "Physicians for Social Responsibility", will present a video "The Last Epidemic". A discussion will follow.

How many of us have thought that in the event of a nuclear war, we of Victoria and Haliburton Counties are too remote from military targets to die directly from the blast? "If we could harbour ourselves in our houses for a month or two we could escape the effects of radiation and nuclear fall out." "Surely those who live in big cities will be the ones who really suffer," we think.

Perhaps those who do die immediately will be the lucky ones. If you watched the television movie "The Day After" you will know why.

Dr. Cragg and Dr. Siegel will offer information about the immediate effects of the blasts on its victims and perhaps of more concern, the additional after effects. Terrifying and threatening prospects include: epidemics, possible rat infestations, serious psychological reactions, and the almost hopeless chore of disposing of the dead. After the bombing of Toronto, each surviving physician would have to care for 1,000 residents in a city where 60 - 80% of all hospital beds would be lost to blast damage or fire.

This is hardly a topic to cheer up the listener but it is one that the Victoria Peace Project believes we should all be knowledgeable about. By understanding these and other facts concerning nuclear war, one can more realistically assess whether or not the risks our governments seem to be taking in the arms race, are worth it. We will not reduce the threat of nuclear war by burying our heads in sand and ignoring the issues.

or 6 month gestation period have special adaptations. By rights, that period would have them seeking out mates in the very depths of winter, with all of the attendant vigors and risks. Instead, they mated last fall, but the implantation and development of the fertilized eggs was somehow delayed until mid-winter. The young, developing right now will be ready for birth when spring's warmth and food arrive.

In addition to the great Horned Owl, Canada Jays (or "Whiskey Jacks"), Crossbills and some ravens are now nesting. All have special adaptations to cope with the cold, and to take advantage of food supply, or other advantageous quirks.

For those who look closely, much is happening now. Even in your backyard, watch for the last of the squirrels, playing tag-team as they chase mates about on warm late winter days. Listen for cardinals beginning their early territorial singing. And for raccoons, which often kick up a yowling ruckus while courting. Keep your nose peeled, too, for emerging skunks.

For the more adventurous at heart, go for a walk in a sheltered forest. Watch and listen for the trails and tales of approaching spring. It will soon be here - honestly!

An active life under the snow

In an eerie world, faintly lit by blue-green rays, life is a collection of the bizarre. Strange beasts, lined on each side with a dozen or more oar-like legs, row along in slow motion. Their prey appears dazed. Some motionless, as though in suspended animation. Others wandering aimlessly, some in-built sense forbidding them from eating. Majestic flowers, already perfectly formed in miniature, sit tightly furled in nondescript capsules, awaiting the animator that will release their beauty. Ravenous monsters feed, breed and even flourish. Still bigger monsters race through the catacombs, dis-membering and devouring monster after monster. Gargantuan beasts, capable of devouring both, lie nearby in a stupor, their breath crystalizing as a jewel encrusted case upon all it touches. It's a balmy 0 degree Centigrade for weeks upon end.

More fantastic than any science-fiction creation, this real-world lays all around us. The filling-in-the-sandwich between deep soil and frigid snow, it's a world that few of us ever glimpse. Yet, for those who'll pause to contemplate it, this sandwich holds both drama and wisdom.

Much more than 'cold white stuff', our snow cover is a magnificent blanket, essential to the very survival of countless species of plants and animals. An intricate, self-sealing lattice of ice crystals, and huge volumes of entrained air, it insulates superbly. More than that, it hides plants and animals from would-be predators. It gently protects from winter's violence. It even nourishes.

Above the snow, temperatures cross the freezing point several times a day, dozens of times a winter. And fluctuations occur suddenly, as the temperature bounces from plus 5 to minus 20, minus 30 or below. Few organisms can take either rapid or frequent freeze-thaw cycles, or the extreme cold. Tissues simply freeze. Their cells torn apart by frost, they disintegrate into mere blobs of lifeless material.

A few birds and mammals - equipped with remarkable insulation and in-built heat engines - find enough food energy to keep them going in the frigid air. Others head south.

But the vast majority rely, instead, upon snow. Many hibernate beneath it - like the snakes, bear and skunks described above as "gargantuan beasts". Others - like the meadow vole "dragons" - find snow a warm and effective cover from hawks and owls, under which to tunnel, feed and breed.

Weasels of every description - the "still larger dragons" - race through the subnivean caverns, devouring prey. Woodland wildflowers - the trilliums and hepaticas, giner and orchids that we will admire come spring - are gently maturing at an even temperature, just above freezing. And the bizarre invertebrates - upon which almost everything depends - await spring in suspended animation, or slow-motion march.

Next time you gaze across that barren, desolate landscape, pause a moment to contemplate. Beneath that snow - indeed, thanks to it - rich and vibrant life continues, awaiting spring.

Juveniles take lead in quarter finals

The largest crowd of the season came out to Minden arena of Sunday to watch the Minden Monarch Juveniles host Erin in the opening game of the Ontario Juvenile Quarter Finals.

The fans were not disappointed as the home team scored a 4-2 win in a fast paced, hard hitting contest. The Monarchs forced the play from the opening faceoff and after repeatedly testing the Erin goalie, went ahead 1-0 when Tim Wood blasted in a slapshot after taking a pass from Barry Boice and Bernie Upton.

Less than a minute later Dennis McKee picked off a pass from Daryl Ward and slipped it past the Erin goalie. With a minute remaining in the period, Barry Boice drove in Minden's third goal after being fed by Scot Hamilton.

In the second period Monarch goalie Kevin Smith made some key saves during the Erin power play.

With both teams at full strength Erin scored two quick goals after a pair of Erin forwards skated around the Minden defence.

The score remained 3-2 until the five minute mark of the third period when Doug Schell picked up the loose puck at centre ice and skated in alone. It appeared at first that the goalie had stopped the shot but the puck trickled over the line and Minden had the two goal lead.

A few minutes later Doug Schell was on the receiving end of a two handed slash across his helmet that resulted in an Erin player being ejected from the game. Several players commented later that "Erin really liked to lay on the lumber" an observation that is reflected in the number of slashing penalties assessed to the visiting team.

Referee Claude Parish handed out 11 minor and 2 major penalties to Erin and 5 minor and one major to Minden.

Pee Wees victorious 5-1

The Minden Pee Wees ended their round robin playoffs on a winning note with a 5-1 victory over Cannington on Tuesday February 19.

Minden wracked up a 3-2-1 win, loss, tie record in the four team series losing both games to Little Britain who finished the series in first place.

In last Tuesday's game, Cannington opened the scoring when a shot from behind the net deflected off a defenceman's skate into the Minden net.

With less than three minutes left in the period, Joey Boyle tied the score after taking a pass from Randy Bull. Two minutes later Minden went ahead 2-1 when Randy Bull fired in a pass from Hunter Obee.

Kent Taylor scored the lone marker in the second period on a pass from Randy Bull. Rob Ackersblade and Darren Sawyer added a goal each in the final period with assists from Kent Taylor, Joey Boyle and Randy Bull.

Aside from the one fluke goal early in the game, Cannington was unable to get a shot past Minden goalie Lorne Greer.

The Minden PeeWees will be playing in a Consolation round against Haliburton, Bobcaygeon and Cannington.

The schedule for the series will be announced this week.

Pitch-in campaign set for May 6-12

Thousands of Ontario residents are expected to hit the streets, parks and countryside again this year during the annual Pitch-In campaign, which takes place May 6 - 12.

Pitch-In, Ontario's largest environmental public participation campaign, will involve hundreds of community groups and thousands of volunteers in the week long litter clean-up campaign.

Co-ordinated and co-sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Anglers & Hunters, a non-profit organization, Pitch-In is supported by the Ontario Ministry of Environment and Sunoco Inc., a Suncor company.

Sunoco is supporting the anti-litter event by providing 115,000 free garbage bags to the OFAH for distribution to community groups, churches, and schools throughout the province.

"Last year more than 2,800 organizations participated in Pitch-In," said Jim Hook, President of the OFAH. "We expect even greater participation this year, meaning even greater demand for garbage bags. We encourage groups to order their bags as soon as possible to avoid disappointment."

"We're grateful to the Environment Ministry for its on-going support of Pitch-In, and we are very pleased to have a major corporation such as Sunoco backing our efforts this year," added Hook.

Information kits about Pitch-In '85 have been sent to thousands of voluntary organizations encouraging their participation. Any group requiring further information or wishing to order garbage bags should contact Pitch-In, 2nd Flr, 598 St. Clair Ave. West, Toronto, Ontario M6C 1A6.

Limit use of nose drops and sprays

"A few weeks ago when I came down with a cold, I started using a really great nasal spray. Well, my other cold symptoms cleared all right, but I think my stuffy nose is worse. Is that possible? Should I try another brand of nasal spray?"

No; and stop using the one you have now. Please don't use any nasal decongestant at all. If in two or three days, you do not feel much better, contact your doctor. More than likely, it's the over-use of spray which has caused your continued and worsened nasal congestion. That will sometimes happen — especially if you have not explicitly followed the product's dosage directions.

A nasal spray is a decongestant. It "works" by shrinking blood vessels in the nasal passages. If the blood vessels in the nasal passages have become dilated (which sometimes happens with a cold), a person's nose feels "stuffy". By shrinking these blood vessels, a nasal spray does make you feel better — for a while. But, as the medication wears off, the blood vessels dilate once more. They will stop dilating when the cold goes away.

Nasal decongestants are generally very effective and very convenient to use whether they come in spray or liquid drop form. People like them because they provide almost instantaneous relief for stuffy noses. However, if you fall into the easy habit of using sprays or nose drops every time you feel congested, your nasal blood vessels will OVER-dilate. That will make you feel worse, not better. Your cold is gone, but you still have a stuffy nose.

Switching brands and using another nasal spray will not help. The only way to end this "rebound congestion" is to stop using sprays and nose drops.

If you cannot live with a stuffy nose for even a short while, ask your pharmacist for an oral decongestant, but limit your use. Never take any medication more often than directed. Read the product's directions. They were written with you in mind.

Your local pharmacy has many non-prescription decongestant products on its shelves. Decongestants are not all the same. Ask for advice. This month's cold is not last year's. An advisory column written by The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, Ottawa, Ontario.

Rockcliffe continues playoff dominance

The Rockcliffe Foamblowers continued their dominance of the Minden Men's Recreational League playoffs with a pair of victories in this past week's action.

The Blowers defeated Vasey Real Estate 12-6 on Thursday then went on to double Hartwick Construction 10-5 on Monday evening at Minden arena.

In the other game played on Monday, Vasey defeated The Times 14-2.

In Thursday's game the Blowers led from the start scoring four goals in the first period adding five more in the second then coasting to the win with three goals in the third.

Dave Hartwick put on an impressive performance for the winners scoring six goals and adding four assists.

Dave Pettes also had a strong game scoring a hat trick and picking up two assists. Also scoring were Sid McKeighan with two goals and three assists and Jim McKelvey with a goal and five assists. Ted Vasey contributed two assists.

Scoring for Vasey were Jerry Campbell, two goals and an assist, Doug Macnab, a goal and assist, and Charlie Walters, Dave Brown and Kim Hamilton with a goal apiece. Larry Sawyer and Dennis Brule picked up a pair of assists each.

Vasey made up for the loss the following Monday when they defeated The Times 14-2. The game was more evenly matched than the score indicates but Vasey goalie Kevin Davis proved to be nearly unbeatable.

Dave Brown was the top gun for Vasey scoring four goals and contributing five assists.

Larry Sawyer remained off the scoreboard until the end of the third period when he scored three goals in less than a minute. Jerry Campbell also had a productive night scoring a pair of goals and adding five assists.

Other pointgetters were Brendan Berube with two goals and an assist, Charlie Walters two goals and an assist, Dennis Brule one goal, Doug Macnab three assists and Barry Smith an assist.

Brian Shaw scored an unassisted goal for The Times. The second goal was scored by Barry Shaw with an assist to Barry Ward.

In the second game played on Monday, Rockcliffe Foamblowers defeated Hartwick Construction 10-5 to remain undefeated in the playoffs which is not surprising considering the fact that they were undefeated throughout the entire season.

The teams traded goals until the three minute mark of the third period then the Blowers broke the deadlock with five unanswered goals. Three of those goals were scored by Jim McKelvey who picked up five goals and an assist in the win.

Sid McKeighan the top scorer in the league this year added a hat trick. Also scoring for the Blowers were Dave Hartwick with a goal and two assists and Andy Campbell with a goal and an assist. Assists also went to Charlie Berube with four and Ted Vasey with a pair.

Sharing in the scoring for Hartwick were Rick Hartwick with two goals and a pair of assists, Leigh Bull two goals and an assist, and Greg Carpenter a single goal. Murray Clarke and Rick Halk picked up single assists.

Action resumes at Minden arena on Thursday, February 28 when Hall's Insurance takes on Home Hardware at 9 p.m.

On Monday, Hall's meets Rockcliffe at 7 p.m.

Did you know?

by Bambi Gilder

Did you know ... that the Haliburton Happy Community Gardeners (HHCG) will have a 'garden shed' located on Park Street East, for members of the community to start their spring seed planting?

This will be a limited facility for the use of amateur gardeners and will be available for use at the end of February. To receive further information, please call your County Information Centre at 457-2733, however, there will be more information published regarding the garden shed.

It was kindly brought to our attention that the lending time and fees for the 'Loan Cupboard' in Haliburton differs from the one in Minden. Both are sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross Society, however, there is no set lending time period and no fee required for lending through the Minden Loan Cupboard.

Please keep in mind that we are here to help people with problems regarding social, health, governmental and environmental subjects. If you have a problem, we can help. So why not give us a call or drop in to our office located in the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton. Office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. weekdays.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question!

Variety of programs planned for seniors

by Katherine McMahon

This week has been an exciting introduction to working here. Tuesday I attended a workshop in Toronto entitled Motivating the Older Adult. The workshop featured Elaine Baillie, presently a Life Enrichment Consultant with the Ontario Association of Homes for the Aged. Her presentation centred around slide and film presentations interspersed with participatory discussion periods.

Watch for the announcement of our spring programs to commence the week of March 18. If you have an activity that you would like to see offered, please drop-in and discuss it with me. Ideas are always welcome!

Come out and enjoy our card parties at 1:15 p.m. Monday - Bridge, Wednesday - Euchre, and Friday - Cribbage.

Mrs. L. Cox, our president, read a verse to open the meeting of Women's Institute at the February 20 meeting at the Library Cultural Centre. After the usual proceedings, Mrs. Kernohan reported sending in the fees and that our special collection for CatScan in January was $27.10.

The Card Report was given by Mrs. W. Moore with 15 cards sent and collection for this fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken up and our guests were introduced. After the letters were read, Mrs. L. Cox, Mrs. C. Lacey and Mrs. D. Cox are going to the Leaders Training Day, March 9 at Omamee.

Mrs. D. Berry, Convenor of Family and Consumer

Affairs, read from the CatScan leaflet and had T Shirts and buttons for sale. These buttons were nearly all sold. We then had a film shown by Mrs. Lacey, "Hold the Catsup". This showed different foods and their preparation by various ethnic groups.

We had received the "Institute Song", thanks to Mrs. Moore and all joined in this as well as Happy Birthday to Mrs. Alec Taylor. We had 18 members present and 4 guests, but one Mrs. J. Marsh later joined this branch.

The meeting adjourned and the next meeting will be March 20 at the same place at 2 p.m. with all ladies welcome.

Auctioneer Verla Wilson then sold the articles turned in on the Roll Call and we took in over $60 for the CatScan fund. After this all enjoyed a cup of tea and snack and an enjoyable half hour.

Home Services has seniors' programs

by Donna Bailey

Haliburton County Home Support Services purposes are: "to enable the elderly and handicapped to remain independent in their homes for a longer period" and "to create in the community an awareness of the process of aging and the needs of the elderly".

We do these through various programs:

1. Meals on Wheels - a nourishing meal delivered to the home by a volunteer at a cost of $2.50 per meal 3 days a week.

2. Transportation - locally and out-of-town. Volunteers offer low cost service with a personal touch. It enables you to attend appointments banking, shopping, visiting, etc.

3. Home Help - for minimum wage - housework, laundry, windows, minor repairs, grass cutting, snow removal, etc.

4. Fone-a-friend - someone with common interest will phone you on a regular basis, especially for those living alone.

5. Friendly Visiting - someone visits you at home for a chat and will assist you with letter writing, reading, errands, etc.

6. Wheels to Meals - volunteers pick up person going to meals and take them home again. Dinner is $4.00, dinner reservations are required.

These programs are available in most parts of Haliburton County to persons 55 years old and older and to any handicapped person.

Motivating group members - Ag report -

Do you belong to a volunteer rural organization? If so, you are among the thousands of people that provide Ontario with many community activities and opportunities. Agricultural fairs, 4-H clubs, producer groups and special interest societies such as horticulture all are maintained by volunteers in the executive and membership.

Sometime volunteer boards move ahead in great strides: at other times, members are difficult to motivate. Why does this happen, and how can you overcome the problems?

Motivation is the theme of the R.S.V.P. Workshop planned for Saturday, March 9 in Omeme. Don Groff, a consultant from Creative Development Unlimited, Kitchener, will be leading the morning session on motivating group members. Afternoon sessions include assessing your groups' vital signs and managing a volunteer board. Carol Stewart Kirkby, O.M.A.F., and Ralph Hodgson, Secretary-Manager, of Lindsay Central Exhibition, will be the afternoon resource people.

A pre-registration fee of $10.00 includes lunch and all course materials. The course is open to all rural organizations, however, space is limited. Please contact the Lindsay Agricultural Office for further details.

Field crops

The 1985 issue of Field Crop Recommendations (O.M.A.F. Publication 296) is now available for Ontario farmers. A good supply of the booklets arrived in the Lindsay Agricultural Office late last week. Many local farm supply outlets will also have a supply of these booklets.

As usual, there are many changes throughout the publication, some of which are minor and others are significant. Every farmer should obtain a copy of this publication and consider its' recommendations for those crops which are planned for 1985. Publication 296 includes recommendations on crop management, on variety selection, on fertilizer use and on disease and insect control. The major crops covered are corn, forages, cereals, beans and peas, soybeans and canola.

In response to the problems encountered across Ontario last year with corn rootworms, information on rootworm control measures, both cultural and chemical, has been expanded. This year the recommended insecticides for rootworm control are listed in relative order of effectiveness. Also in the corn section, suggestions on the proper use of anhydrous ammonia and urea to avoid seed injury or fertilizer loss are included.

There is a lot of new information in the forage crop section, including eight new alfalfa varieties and one new brome variety, in addition to two new forage species considered for pasture crops.

In the cereal section, several older varieties have been dropped in favour of new superior varieties of oats and barley. A new table provides information to assist farmers in selecting the most profitable amount of nitrogen to apply to winter wheat this spring.

The recommended variety list for soybeans has expanded considerably with 14 new varieties. There are now 10 soybean varieties which can be considered by growers in Victoria County.

The sections on soil management and fertilizer use and on the safe use of pesticides continue to be important to all farmers.

Copies of the 1985 edition of Field Crop Recommendations for Ontario are available free of charge from any County Agricultural Office, or farm supply outlet. Ask for your copy now to help plan your cropping program for the coming months.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of Mrs. Therm Corby who passed on recently.

We received the following note from Florence Robinson who pays tribute to the late Al. Smith. We are

by Bert Harrison

Dear readers. There really is no reason for me to say, you all know it keeps snowing almost every day.

Our maintenance men are kept busy keeping things running smoothly inside and keeping the driveway clear on the outside.

Congratulations to Chris Precoor we would like to say, who celebrated her birthday this 17th February day.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Avery is still in St. Joseph's Hospital, how long she will be there, we don't know.

In the chapel service Sunday night, not too many there. Harold Thompson read the lesson, Ruth led in prayer. Then Rev. Burgess spoke on the 99 sheep who were safely in the fold, but interesting is the one that was left out in the cold.

Edna Cowen is a lucky girl, she always is a winner. Her son, Bob, came and took her out to dinner. Her roommate, Lily Hogg, really doesn't pout, but says no one hardly takes her out.

The flu seems to be starting up again at Hyland Crest. Some have got it in their joints, others in their chest.

Our ladies are working in the craft room trying to keep things up to par, making different ideas for their July Bazaar.

We were all saddened here at Hyland Crest when we learned of the passing of Al Smith. The great violin player who came here each month played fine music and gave us of his best. Our deepest sympathy to his wife, relatives, and all he held most dear, we are sure he had lots of friends, music lovers both far and near.

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver of Minden sure she wishes us to share it with you.

I wonder what the readers think of when they hear the name Al Smith? I picture a small man with a violin in his hand ready to play for the residents of Hyland Crest.

Up until two years ago, a group known as the Watson-Smith trio entertained at the Crest once a month. Then Fred Watson passed away very suddenly. After a few weeks Thelma and Al, as they were affectionately known, returned to entertain once more.

Sometimes they could find someone to fill in on the guitar, but more often than not they carried on bravely until last November when Al's health began to fail. He underwent an operation in January and slipped into a coma from which he failed to rally.

The group will be long remembered for the pleasure they provided for others. To Mary Smith and Thelma Watson is extended our sincere sympathy.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Some have hidden words or sayings, some do not. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun.

Q: What did the astronaut see on the stove?

A: An unidentified frying object.

Q: Why are the 14th and 15th letters of the alphabet the most important of all?
